Intensive Support & Resource Workers (ISRWs)

Mémíyelhtel Intensive Support & Resource Workers possess unique qualities and support youth with the utmost humility and integrity. Staff invest in this work as a lifestyle and continually strive for their own personal growth and wellness, which reflects in their service delivery. Collectively, the team offers a dynamic and impactful spectrum of skills and supports. Intensive Support and Resource Workers provide critical, long-term intensive support to Indigenous youth and their families, on a unique case-by-case basis.
